Identity
Julio Noboa Polanco

Let them be as flowers,
Always watered, fed, guarded, admired,
But harnessed to a pot of dirt.

I'd rather be a tall, ugly weed,
Clinging on cliffs, like an eagle
Wind-wavering above high, jagged rocks.

To have broken through the surface of stone,
To live, to feel exposed to the madness
Of the vast, eternal sky.
To be swayed by the breezes of an ancient sea,
Carrying my soul, my seed,
Beyond the mountains of time or into the abyss of the bizarre.

I'd rather be unseen, and if
Then shunned by everyone,
Than to be a pleasant-smelling flower,
Growing in clusters in the fertile valley,
Where they're praised, handled, and plucked
By greedy, human hands.

I'd rather smell of musty, green stench
Than of sweet, fragrant lilac.
If I could stand alone, strong and free,
I'd rather be a tall, ugly weed.

Hard on the Gas

My grandfather taught himself to drive rough, the way he learned to live,

push the pedal, hard on the gas,
rush up to 50,
coast a bit.

rush, rest, rush, rest--

When you clutch the bar above your right shoulder
he shoots you a look that asks,
Who said the ride would be smooth?

Identity by Julio Noboa Polanco

Group One: As you read, collect and cite textual evidence.
- Highlight where flowers and weeds grow.
- Underline what the speaker wants each time he says, “I’d rather.”
- In the margin next to stanzas 2, 5, and 6 write one or two words that describe the speaker.
- You will also determine the effect of punctuation, and figurative language used within the text.

Group Two:
- Reread the poem. What can you infer about what the flowers and weeds represent?
- How does diction contribute to the theme of the poem?

Group Three:
- Why does the speaker want to be a weed? Review your reading notes and be sure to cite textual evidence in your response.
- How do character setting and plot contribute to the theme of the poem?

Hard on the Gas by Janet S. Wong

Group Four:
- Underline two things the speaker compares in the first stanza.
- In the margin, explain what line 6 means.
- You will also determine the effect of punctuation, and figurative language used within the text.

Group Five:
- Reread the poem. With a small group, discuss why the grandfather “shoots a look” at the speaker. Why does the speaker clutch the bar? Cite evidence from the poem in your discussion.
- How does diction contribute to the theme of the poem?

Group Six
- This poem is about more than the grandfather’s driving ability. Explain the message or larger meaning, of the question “Who said the ride would be smooth?” Cite evidence in your response.
- How do the structures of your poem sets contribute to the meaning (how does the actual layout and format of the poem help the reader understand the poem’s meaning)?
